SofTutor will change your impression of E-Learning & IT Training Forever! It reduces training and support costs, while increasing retention. Try this free Microsoft Excel 2007 / 2010 Data Mining Tutorial and see for yourself.

New Vision Software, Incorporated (NVSI), Barrington, IL - announces the availability of the free SofTutor for Excel 2007 Demo. SofTutor reduces learning time on data mining and data manipulation in Excel by up to 70 percent with its easy to use search and display functions. In addition, learners can consult specific "how to" information without leaving Excel using SofTutor's unique, resizable overlay window. With 15 specific topics, learners quickly become skilled at importing from a table from a web page, separating fields, formatting, sorting, removing duplicates, filtering data and exporting.

Originally NVSI created this demo in about two hours (idea to delivery) with the new SofTutor Learning System rapid development tools to show how quickly content could be created. You'll learn these data manipulation techniques in about 25 minutes. Then to highlight SofTutor's quick technical support features, the demo was indexed so users could find specific topics hidden within the 13 minute video and learn them within seconds. SofTutor saves time and money by reducing the time it takes to make training, the time it takes to learn and the time it takes to find information.

Unlike typical elearning products that reproduce the classroom training environment online, SofTutor reproduces instruction to provide a one-on-one training experience. "Our goal was simple. We wanted to reduce the time it takes to learn, increase retention and make learning fun!", says founder Randy Hilgers.

Typical elearning teaches in three steps: 1) Lecture, 2) Remember, 3) Try or be Tested Later. SofTutor teaches in one step: 1) Try it Now! Elearning products lecture or "tell you what to do". SofTutor "shows you what to do" and allows you to follow along with the instruction.

SofTutor uses a performance based learning technology which reduces the learning time, increases retention and engages the learner in the learning process, which makes learning more enjoyable.
